What I accomplished since my last stand-up:

I was working on the task to implement desigm pattern for the player component for the User Story 2 : Displaying the player component in the game screen
I was working on selecting a better healthbar icon to place in the screen (tried something with the adobe photoshop and animate)

What I am working on today:

I will be working on the task related to integrating with the opponent. (for now i am going to use my enemy) in order to test the hit and win. (later when the
